“

I had a series of productive customer meetings that not only strengthened our existing relationships but also opened the door to new opportunities. Networking with industry peers was incredibly valuable, allowing me to exchange insights and ideas that can drive our business forward.

Additionally, the educational seminars were outstanding; they provided a wealth of information on current trends and best practices that I am eager to implement. Overall, the experience was enriching and has left me feeling inspired and motivated to take our initiatives to the next level.

“

Coverings is the top ceramic tile show in North America, uniting manufacturers, contractors, importers, distributors, designers, artists, and architects. The entire industry presents and discusses new products and services, showcasing their best offerings for now and the future. Coverings consistently offers the best chance to meet with suppliers, customers, and industry peers. If we could attend only one show, it would be Coverings.
